OUR VISION
To be the cultural anchor for our community.

OUR MISSION
To collect, preserve, and exhibit the work of contemporary artists and present it to the community as a vital source of inspiration and education.

OUR VALUES
We believe art is what makes us human.

We believe contemporary art inspires important discussion about ourselves and the world in which we all live, building community through a greater understanding and appreciation of each other.

We value being a center for creativity, self-expression, and cultural dialogue, making The NIC a place where individuals can become connected to the larger community in which they live and work.

We believe in helping everyone understand the role of art in our daily lives by showcasing and celebrating art, art education, and art appreciation opportunities.

We believe art stimulates the hearts and minds of everyone who comes in contact with it because creativity is an essential element of a joyful life.

We sustain an environment that encourages children, families, and community members to discover art, be creative, and interact with each other through their shared art experience.

Guided by these beliefs, The NIC provides every citizen in our community with the opportunity to participate in and experience the arts on a personal basis.
A Note from the Executive Director...

I love Casper and Wyoming.

If you’ve been around me, you know that this is true. I may not have been born here, but I couldn’t ask for a better community to call home.

Why?

Maybe it’s the great art organizations. We are thrilled to partner with the Wyoming Symphony and Hilltop Bank to bring Brunch & Bach to the community every first Sunday from January through April. We were also honored to host the inaugural year of Opera Wyoming and to be their fiscal sponsor. Beautiful music and great people have made these art groups a treasure for this community.

Maybe it’s the awesome public schools. When I watched the students from Paradise Valley’s Mandarin Immersion Program during the Chinese New Year celebration, even though I’m not a parent, I was filled with pride. My favorite annual show, the Natrona County Fifth Grade Art Show, is coming in April and showcases every fifth grader from every elementary school (including mine this year). Along with the Natrona County High School Show at the same time, we are shown the depth of talent of our local students and teachers.

Maybe it’s the wonderful non-profits. We partner with some great groups that benefit so many causes. Already this year Family Game Night with Mercer House and the Natrona County Prevention Coalition brought families together in our galleries for healthy play, PAWS for Art with the Humane Society raised funds for our furry friends in need and every month therapeutic art classes are held in cooperation with the Veterans Center, Wyoming Dementia Care, NOWCAP, just to name a few.

Maybe it’s the talented staff, dedicated Board, and loyal members of The NIC that makes these events - and the others we have planned for the year - happen. Living up to our vision of making The NIC the cultural anchor of the community is no small task. This year marks thirty years of The NIC on Collins Drive. You don’t reach a milestone like this without a lot of dedicated people.

So many reasons to love being a member of the community.

I hope we inspire you to love it just as much through The NIC’s exhibits, events, educational programs and experiences!

Cheers!

Doug Russell is a visual artist who lives and works in Laramie, Wyoming. He currently holds the position of Associate Professor of Art at the University of Wyoming where he is coordinator of the drawing program.

Working within the tradition of the architectural capriccio, I build improvised and invented realities born out of my love of direct observational drawing and of architectural forms and organic structures. With fragments continually piling up, expanding, collapsing, and disappearing, and re-emerging - the imagery and process express the perpetual cycle of hopeful human construction and the inevitable erosion of intentions. This work began over twenty years ago while living and working in Turkey, a dense and layered landscape of ruin and renewal. The Persistence of Ruin uses layers of Mylar and Plexiglas to create an obscured atmospheric and deep space.

BRILLIANTLY BRI: BRI MARTIN
MARCH 1 - APRIL 3 | THIRD FLOOR GALLERY

I grew up in an environment that nurtured my inner artist from a young age. Without internet, cell phones or even cable TV, escaping into books and my creating art were my forms of entertainment. I have always loved to bring the whimsical stories I read to life. Bright colors and energy and a visual balance of sorts are found in nearly all of my pieces. My hope is that you’ll find something new each time you view each piece and that you’ll be inspired by the words you see.

AMY CHRISTIE

Amy Christie graduated with Bachelor’s degree in Education from Chadron State College and holds endorsements in Art Education and Special Education. She taught Functional Life Skills at Kelly Walsh HS for the last five years. She is thrilled to be able to immerse herself in an art environment where she can explore therapeutic art and art education with some of her favorite age groups and individuals!

Amy’s current media of choice is textile. She loves quilting from original patterns as she can condense them between sessions. However, she also enjoys working with photography, mixed media, paper and oils. Amy believes that art is a vehicle and outlet that caters to many different learning styles and people with all abilities. She values the learning that comes from exploring. After all ‘The “Earth” without “ART” is just “Eh.”

TORI PIKE

Tori Pike is native to Casper, Wyoming. She received her Bachelors in Art Education from the University of Wyoming. During her college years Tori taught art through volunteer work, private lessons and other art-related opportunities. Tori is an enthusiastic advocate for art education and believes that all people possess an ability to create. “My goal as an art educator is to uncover those abilities. My teaching philosophy is fueled by designing lessons that offer discovery within visual arts.”

Tori loves to paint, draw and decorate animal skulls and thinks that art should not be restrained to traditional drawing, painting or ceramics only. Sometimes it is good to venture off the canvas and paper and use art materials in unexpected ways. In her private time, Tori loves nature and enjoys hunting, watching movies or hanging out with her family.
